

BARTENDERS NEVER QUESTION HIS AGE, DEFENDANT CLAIMS

Charles Hutchinson, Jr., informs court he sometimes drinks all night

SENTENCE IS IMPOSED

Court Allows Tullytown Couple To Withdraw Pleas of "Guilty"

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 9—It was stated in court here yesterday by a minor defendant that no bartender ever asked him how old he was when buying a drink, who told the court that sometimes he drinks all night.

Charles Hutchinson, Jr., 20, 608 Pine st., Bristol, who was sentenced to serve not less than two nor more than 23 months in prison after he admitted smashing a $139 television set and breaking the rear window in a car, was reprimanded by Judge Edward G. Blester who said: "Your temper and your drinking got you into this trouble."

Asked by Judge Blester to give the names of the taprooms and bars, where the minor defendant could buy drinks, Hutchinson refused. "You mean, you refuse to tell the court," Judge Blester asked. "I do," mumbled the youth.

The youth, who attributed his trouble to "blackouts," although he was in no action in World War II, admitted smashing the $139 television set in the Celtic Boys' Club. He had been suspended because he was delinquent in his 25-cents-a-week dues.

He broke the rear window in the car of Gohene-Cor and threw the hammer on the rear seat while the car was standing in a garage which had been left, leaving nothing but the concrete floor. The youth's mother paid $19.75 damages to Cor to have the window repaired.

Officer Vito Della, Bristol policeman, who organized the Celtic Boys' Club to keep 14 to 18-year-old-teen-agers off the streets, said the defendant was a charter member and helped fix up the clubrooms. The club paid $90 for a new set, contributions making up the rest of the cost.

Hutchinson, who said he attended a blood donors' reunion and drank beer the night he committed the two crimes, testified that some nights he drinks all night and it never bothers him, and that other times, one or two beers affect him. "I have never been asked my age when I bought a drink," he said.

"When you come up for parole," Judge Blester said, "the court will have something to say about your Continued on Page Three

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Soft coal operators and the union resumed bargaining yesterday under the eye of the Presidential fact-finding board after the board had stated that the public was entitled to have a contract or to know the reason why agreement was impossible. At a hearing John L. Lewis called an operator spokesman "a liar by the clock." The coal shortage brought cancellation of 300 more steam passenger trains and a 25 per cent cut in coal-burning freight trains. General Motors and other companies announced cut-backs in production or layoffs.

The House tentatively approved a $131,700,000 rise in most categories of postal service except first-class and air mail. Final vote is due today.

There will be price increases on oil, gasoline and other mined products, an industry spokesman predicted before a House committee, if President Truman's request for a cut in the special tax allowance on mining is approved.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

The new gas range with built-in TV makes it possible to have two turkeys going at the same time.

We'll need more three-minute programs for the eggs and perhaps a few tie-in travel pictures like "Two Weeks in Baked Alaska."

But if Allen wouldn't stay in radio against "Stop the Music" what will he do in TV against a whistling tea kettle?

The mystery programs will go great on the TV-gas range . . . now WE can help grill the suspect.

But I worry a little about next year's World Series with her trying to get an omelette off the second burner and him trying to shout a runner in off third.

Next, the combination radio, television, electric range and hydrogen bomb . . . if there's nothing on the air or the stove you like, you can press a button and they all go away.

GUNS POINT AT TIBET

The people of Tibet live closer to heaven and breathe a more rarified air than does the populace of any other land. On their windy 16,000-foot-high plateaus they are ruled by unworldly Buddhist monks, or lamas. Tibet is nominally a part of China, with India, Burma, Sinkiang, Nepal and Bhutan along her other frontiers. Actually she has been a hermit nation, a law unto herself, cut off from the world by mountain ranges five miles high.

Her soil is barren and her people are poor. The Dalai Lama in James Hilton's "Lost Horizon" may have been on the beam when he foresaw that civilization might start anew in Tibet after the rest of the world's people had been destroyed by war.

* With atomic and hydrogen bombs lying around loose, this may indeed be a world in which only hermits are safe.

Or it may be a world from which even hermits cannot escape. The mountains of Tibet, chaste and lovely as marble statues, may be violated by planes and armies. The god of the mountains and the sky may be sacrificed on the altar of dialectic materialism. The nirvana of perfect union with the divine essence may be rudely shattered under an army with banners beating the strange device "Workers of the world, unite."

So Moscow seems to hope. The Soviet press is full of reports that the "final hour of liberation" is at hand for Tibet. Tibet has been able to remain out of this world because nobody wanted it. Now Russia wants it. Why? Well, if a nation ever wanted to fire super rocket-bombs, with atomic or hydrogen warheads, the roof of the world would be a logical place to fire them from. That would be a grim sequel to President Roosevelt's little jest about: Shangri La.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE

The tax program which Secretary of the Treasury Snyder laid before the House Ways and Means Committee differs only in minor details from the ideas outlined in President Truman's tax message last month. What the administration proposes is:

A reduction in some of the heavy excise taxes imposed during the war, and boosting still higher the already heavy load of taxation on corporations and individuals to make up the loss in revenue and raise approximately a billion more.

Congress received this program with a notable lack of enthusiasm last month, and it does not seem to like it any better the second time around. There is no reason why it should.

Mr. Truman and his echo, Mr. Snyder, have prescribed a dose which cuts a few direct taxes at the expense of business as a whole. In a distinctly political appeal, the secretary notes that most of the additional burden will fall on the big corporations.

Did it ever occur to Mr. Snyder that the largest firms are also the largest source of jobs and production and that, if they are crippled, the economy of the whole nation will suffer?

What common learnings in mathematics should all students have? 5. What special study skills are needed by mathematic students? 6. What vocational opportunities are opened to students of mathematics? 7. How do you develop attitudes of critical thinking? 8. Let Junior Budget His Allowance

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THE average parent knows all too well of the pressures from his child after entering school for having clothes and other things as good as those of his playmates. Even before the child enters school he begins with such pressures. Too, the parents have felt social pressures for having their baby's clothes and playthings appear as luxurious as those of other people's children—more or less regardless of the family income.

The wise young father and mother think these matters through and talk them over together when the first child is born, if not before. They set budgets in accordance with true values as they see them. As the child grows older and more children come these parents keep weighing such values. If they set their sights unduly high from the beginning they will hardly lower these sights later. Rather, they will pretty surely raise them. The proportion of the family income they will spend on the child when he is twelve or fifteen will be determined to a large degree in his infancy. So also in these early years the degree of later resistance by the parents to the pressures from the child in later years will be somewhat shaped.

Budget Principle

As a part of the plan of these wise young parents the child will gradually learn to adapt himself to the budget principle of an allowance. (My bulletin, "Allowances" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper).

Gradually this child will learn in the family of the income and outgo; what is available for spending. In the family discussions he will see the need of a reasonable amount set aside regularly for savings. He will see that it would not be fair and just to have an unreasonable proportion spent on him. A bachelor attorney who reads my column critically and often sends me challenging questions or observations writes:

"I feel proud of the attitude of my mother toward the allowance problem. I wanted a bicycle. She said she could not afford it. 'But,' I expostulated, 'Willy Langenbach has one. I don't see why I can't.' 'Well, Lloyd,' she replied, 'I can tell you why you can't. Willy Langenbach has a father to work for him. Your father is dead.' That answer was to me thoroughly convincing and it did not arouse in me any feeling of inferiority."

In such a family relationship there could not be so many parents as there now are, who are making extreme self-denials so their son or daughter might have nearly all the money he or she wants to spend. Consider the moral harm to this child. Aside from his growing more selfish he is also growing less fit to be on his own financially by and by and to support a family of his own. Even when large expenditures by the youth don't mean self-sacrifice by his parents it does mean poor economic training for his future.

Increased police protection is being sought by Dublin borough council, and with this in mind arrangements were made at the meeting, Monday evening, for the police committee next Monday evening to devise some means of increasing the protection. Council has asked that local business men and others interested attend the meeting, when one of the matters to be taken up will relate to financing the project.

A part-time officer is on duty now, but council feels protection should be given a greater length of time, especially when traffic is unusually heavy. The business men will be asked to give their views concerning more police protection at the meeting.

Council adopted a resolution to place a "stop" sign at the intersection of Irish Meeting House and Deep Run roads, and a copy of this was ordered sent to the State Highway Department. The sign, if erected, will make Deep Run road a stop thoroughfare.

Bristol Township Civic Association for seeking a change in classification of the district were:

"A first class township gives protection against loss of industries and property to an adjoining borough. Losses of industries, residential area, or property will increase your taxes for the limited township administrative services we now have. The establishment of a first class township makes it practically impossible for a borough to annex any part of a first class township.

"Bristol township, now a second class township, can become a first class township when we, the people, desire—and by declaring that desire in the democratic privilege of the voting booth."

The advantages of a first class township over a second class township are listed as follows:

"1. Protection of our present boundary lines and thereby keeping the present industrial establishments.

"2. Due to the tremendous increase in population, it is necessary to establish a board of commissioners to adequately take care of the needs of our township.

"3. Grants from the state department of highways (from the gasoline tax) are approximately four times as much to a first class township as to a second class township."

GUNS POINT AT TIBET

The people of Tibet live closer to heaven and breathe a more rarified air than does the populace of any other land. On their windy 16,000-foot-high plateaus they are ruled by unworldly Buddhist monks, or lamas. Tibet is nominally a part of China, with India, Burma, Sinkiang, Nepal and Bhutan along her other frontiers. Actually she has been a hermit nation, a law unto herself, cut off from the world by mountain ranges five miles high.

Her soil is barren and her people are poor. The Dalai Lama in James Hilton's "Lost Horizon" may have been on the beam when he foresaw that civilization might start anew in Tibet after the rest of the world's people had been destroyed by war.

* With atomic and hydrogen bombs lying around loose, this may indeed be a world in which only hermits are safe.

Or it may be a world from which even hermits cannot escape. The mountains of Tibet, chaste and lovely as marble statues, may be violated by planes and armies. The god of the mountains and the sky may be sacrificed on the altar of dialectic materialism. The nirvana of perfect union with the divine essence may be rudely shattered under an army with banners beating the strange device "Workers of the world, unite."

So Moscow seems to hope. The Soviet press is full of reports that the "final hour of liberation" is at hand for Tibet. Tibet has been able to remain out of this world because nobody wanted it. Now Russia wants it. Why? Well, if a nation ever wanted to fire super rocket-bombs, with atomic or hydrogen warheads, the roof of the world would be a logical place to fire them from. That would be a grim sequel to President Roosevelt's little jest about: Shangri La.

THE MIXTURE AS BEFORE

The tax program which Secretary of the Treasury Snyder laid before the House Ways and Means Committee differs only in minor details from the ideas outlined in President Truman's tax message last month. What the administration proposes is:

A reduction in some of the heavy excise taxes imposed during the war, and boosting still higher the already heavy load of taxation on corporations and individuals to make up the loss in revenue and raise approximately a billion more.

Congress received this program with a notable lack of enthusiasm last month, and it does not seem to like it any better the second time around. There is no reason why it should.

Mr. Truman and his echo, Mr. Snyder, have prescribed a dose which cuts a few direct taxes at the expense of business as a whole. In a distinctly political appeal, the secretary notes that most of the additional burden will fall on the big corporations.

Did it ever occur to Mr. Snyder that the largest firms are also the largest source of jobs and production and that, if they are crippled, the economy of the whole nation will suffer?

The purpose was to discuss and critically examine a tentative outline for a study guide in Secondary Mathematics; topics to be considered: 1. How do you cooperate with other departments in your school? 2. What are your blackboard techniques? 3. What special techniques do you use for teaching slow students? Above average? 4. What common learnings in mathematics should all students have? 5. What special study skills are needed by mathematic students? 6. What vocational opportunities are opened to students of mathematics? 7. How do you develop attitudes of critical thinking? 8. What recommendations would you make with regard to class size, amount of time needed for planning lessons, finances for instructional aids, etc.

Let Junior Budget His Allowance

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

THE average parent knows all too well of the pressures from his child after entering school for having clothes and other things as good as those of his playmates. Even before the child enters school he begins with such pressures. Too, the parents have felt social pressures for having their baby's clothes and playthings appear as luxurious as those of other people's children—more or less regardless of the family income.

The wise young father and mother think these matters through and talk them over together when the first child is born, if not before. They set budgets in accordance with true values as they see them. As the child grows older and more children come these parents keep weighing such values. If they set their sights unduly high from the beginning they will hardly lower these sights later. Rather, they will pretty surely raise them. The proportion of the family income they will spend on the child when he is twelve or fifteen will be determined to a large degree in his infancy. So also in these early years the degree of later resistance by the parents to the pressures from the child in later years will be somewhat shaped.

Budget Principle

As a part of the plan of these wise young parents the child will gradually learn to adapt himself to the budget principle of an allowance (My bulletin, "Allowances" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper).

Gradually this child will learn in the family of the income and outgo; what is available for spending. In the family discussions he will see the need of a reasonable amount set aside regularly for savings. He will see that it would not be fair and just to have an unreasonable proportion spent on him. A bachelor attorney who reads my column critically and often sends me challenging questions or observations writes:

"I feel proud of the attitude of my mother toward the allowance problem. I wanted a bicycle. She said she could not afford it. 'But,' I expostulated, 'Willy Langenbach has one. I don't see why I can't.' 'Well, Lloyd,' she replied, 'I can tell you why you can't. Willy Langenbach has a father to work for him. Your father is dead.' That answer was to me thoroughly convincing and it did not arouse in me any feeling of inferiority."

In such a family relationship there could not be so many parents as there now are, who are making extreme self-denials so their son or daughter might have nearly all the money he or she wants to spend. Consider the moral harm to this child. Aside from his growing more selfish he is also growing less fit to be on his own financially by and by and to support a family of his own. Even when large expenditures by the youth don't mean self-sacrifice by his parents it does mean poor economic training for his future.

Increased police protection is being sought by Dublin borough council, and with this in mind arrangements were made at the meeting, Monday evening, for the police committee next Monday evening to devise some means of increasing the protection. Council has asked that local business men and others interested attend the meeting, when one of the matters to be taken up will relate to financing the project.

A part-time officer is on duty now, but council feels protection should be given a greater length of time, especially when traffic is unusually heavy. The business men will be asked to give their views concerning more police protection at the meeting.

Council adopted a resolution to place a "stop" sign at the intersection of Irish Meeting House and Deep Run roads, and a copy of this was ordered sent to the State Highway Department. The sign, if erected, will make Deep Run road a stop thoroughfare.

Bartenders Never Question His Age, Defendant Claims

paying for the damages you did to the television set."

The youth, who has never had steady employment, was sentenced on one charge of malicious mischief. Sentence was suspended on the other.

Chief of Police Linford Jones also served as a witness for the prosecution.

A plea of guilty was withdrawn in the case of Commonwealth against William H. Parody and his wife, Bernice, of Tullytown, in court here.

They were before Judge Keller on a charge of stealing 30 chickens from the property of Manuel Carlo, of Tullytown, on July 13, 1949. Sufficient evidence was lacking to press the charge and the court allowed the defendants to withdraw the plea. A third person charged with the same offense, but failed to appear in court yesterday to enter a plea.

Mr. and Mrs. Parody are serving time at the present, in the Bucks County Prison. Mrs. Parody, charged with prostitution, is serving 4 to 23 months, and her husband, charged with larceny, is serving 6 to 23 months.

Lawrence Ahlum, of Morrisville, was granted a parole yesterday by Judge Keller. He had served 5 months of a sentence of 6 to 23 months on an involuntary manslaughter charge. Ahlum has a position to take at once, and has a wife and child to support. Prison Warden Earl Handy informed the court that Ahlum has been well behaved in prison.

Pleading guilty to a charge of robbery and being armed with guns, Joseph F. Barker, of Philadelphia, faced Judge Hiram H. Keller for sentence at a session of miscellaneous Quarter Sessions court.

Barker is one of several men arrested by Doylestown and State Police following a robbery at the Dr. Earl Twining home at Chain Bridge on Feb. 11, 1948. Barker was brought to court by a deputy from the Eastern State Penitentiary where he is serving time now for another offense.

Barker was taken into custody by Assistant Chief of Police Clarence Irwin, Doylestown, and Corporal John Mitchell, of the State Police, and the latter read Barker's statement in court.

The others implicated were Joseph Gross and Edward Fex, of Philadelphia.

Corporal Mitchell informed the court that Barker had no previous record. The witness said that in his opinion Gross was the leader of the gang, and is now serving 10 to 30 years in the "Pen" and was convicted on 47 different charges in Philadelphia.

Corp. Mitchell informed the court that it was through Barker that the case was solved quickly. The stolen loot was valued at $2,000.

Trooper Dane appeared as prosecutor in a charge against Barker growing out of a $13 holdup of Harry Stiles, on Feb. 11, 1948, at Lincoln Cabins on the Lincoln Highway.

Assistant Chief Irwin, of Doylestown, testified that two members of the gang had stolen a car from Judge Keller sentenced Barker to pay the costs and a fine of $5 and to undergo a sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary of three to ten years. The sentence is to start at the expiration of the minimum sentence which he is serving at the penitentiary at present.

Howard V. and Helen Russell have filed a complaint in ejectment against their tenants, George Matlack and Kathryn Matlack, Cornwells avenue, Cornwells Heights, in order to recover possession of their premises and $245 in damages.

The plaintiffs purchased the premises July 11, 1949, and aver that the defendants refuse to vacate the premises and have been delinquent in the payment of rent. Charles Richman and Elsie Richman, trading as Richman's, 313-315 Mill street, Bristol, have named William J. Yosten, Trevoise road, Bristol, R. D. 2, Bensalem township, the defendant in an action in assumpsit. The $175 claim is dated June 27, 1949.

Bristol Township Civic Association for seeking a change in classification of the district were:

"A first class township gives protection against loss of industries and property to an adjoining borough. Losses of industries, residential area, or property will increase your taxes for the limited township administrative services we now have. The establishment of a first class township makes it practically impossible for a borough to annex any part of a first class township."

"Bristol township, now a second class township when we, the people, desire—and by declaring that desire in the democratic privilege of the voting booth."

The advantages of a first class township over a second class township are listed as follows:

"1. Protection of our present boundary lines and thereby keeping the present industrial establishments."

"2. Due to the tremendous increase in population, it is necessary to establish a board of commissioners to adequately take care of the needs of our township."

"3. Grants from the state department of highways (from the gasoline tax) are approximately four times as much to a first class township as to a second class township."

Dinner-Reception Given For New Church Members

HULMEVILLE, Feb. 9 — With those who during the past few weeks affiliated with Neshaminy Methodist Church as invited guests, a reception was conducted in the church last evening by members of the official board. The affair was in the form of a dinner, followed by music, a motion picture film, and greetings to the new members on behalf of various church groups. Presiding at the function was the pastor, the Rev. John C. Kulp. The functions and operations of the several church units or organizations were briefly explained to those who recently joined.

Introductions by the pastor included the following, some of whom spoke briefly: Christian C. Tomlinson, recording steward; C. Wesley Haefer, chairman of membership committee, and assistant superintendent of the Sunday School; LeRoy Edwards, financial secretary; Harold Daseburg and George Douglass, members of the official board. Congratulations were extended to Mr. Douglass, whose 52nd birthday anniversary occurred yesterday.

The pastor told of the excellent work done by members of the visitation teams during recent calls among residents of this area.

George Fetters, lay leader of the church, also extended a welcome to all to participate in church activities, capably expressing the joy of working together for Christ and His Kingdom. The women present were invited to join the Woman's Society of Christian Service now being formed, this invitation being through Miss Elma E. Haefer.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Paul H. Gleichenman
Pastor
Zion Lutheran Church

We are poorer, O God, than we ever thought, yet by Thy grace we are richer than we ever dreamed. Show us how weak we are in ourselves; but bring us speedily to forget it in the knowledge of how strong we are in Thee. Lead us out of all narrow, dark, crooked lanes of our life, and set our feet in a large room; through Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

Without Painful Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. 5TH WARD BREAKS ITS LOSING STREAK; BEAT ROHM & HAAS

Fifth Ward Sporting Club broke its losing streak of five straight games last night by beating the Rohm & Haas quintet, 43-40, on the latter's floor. The defeat shoved the chemical mixers into the cellar of the circuit.

The game was close and exciting from the second period until the finish. Twice the Rohm & Haas team came through with nice spurts to cut into large Fifth Ward leads but only once did the Maple Beach aggregation manage to eek out a lead.

The Warders built a 11-3 lead at the first quarter and at one stage of the game was in front, 17-6. But at the half-time recess, the score was 23-21. Later this rose to 31-23 and then the chemical mixers went on a spree which ended by "Augie" Everitt tapping in two goals to knot the count at 31-31. At the end of the third quarter, Fifth Ward was still ahead, 34-33.

As the game was drawing to a close, "Chuck" Klein garnered a long shot to put Rohm & Haas two points behind, 39-37. "Bumps" Constantino made it 41-37. "Benny" Sammel scored under the net to cut the score to 41-39 but Bob Caione made a foul and Joe Potena's double-decker clinched the tilt for the Warders.

"Fran" Constantino and Caione were high for the winners with 12 and 13 points, respectively. Everitt had twelve for Rohm & Haas.

It was announced that Sunday's games will be played in the afternoon, starting at two o'clock. In the first tilt, the Hibernians will play Franklin, while in the second encounter Tullytown meets Profy's.

"HIBOES" UPSET PROFY TEAM AND WIN; SCORE, 52-44

The Hibernians upset the Profy team last night in a Bristol Basketball League match on the Rohm & Haas court. Final score was 52-44. The loss forced the Profy team into a deadlock with Franklin for first place in the circuit.

The Profymen staged a last quarter rally and cut a 11-point Hibs lead to four points with one minute remaining to be played. The score at this time was 46-42. But Joe Roe, "Bill" Burr, and "Johnny" Rodgers put in the double-deckers which gave the Hibernians the triumph.

Feature of the tilt was the close guarding given "Johnny" Pindar by the Hibs' defense, especially Joe Roe. Pindar did not score a field goal until mid-way in the third quarter. He ended with three field goals and nine fouls.

"Johnny" Rodgers was high man for the winners with 20 points. Rodgers cut the cords for seven twin-pointers and dunked six out of six fouls. He did the scoring with Burr being credited with several assists. "Tommy" Donnelly chipped in with nine points.

The Hibs led from the start, having a 9-6 lead at the first quarter and increasing it to 26-19 at the half-way mark. The Hibs led by 10 points at the close of the third period, 37-27.

POULTRY IS HIGH IN ITS FOOD VALUE; HELPS BUILD BLOOD

By Miss Frances Vannoy
(Home Economics Extension Representative)

When you choose to serve poultry, you have selected a food that has few equals when it comes to delicious flavor and appetite appeal. Its high food value and delicate flavor make it a favorite on the menu.

Poultry is high in food value. It is high in protein, necessary for building and repairing tissue. The iron and phosphorus it contains is important in building rich red blood, strong teeth and bones. Poultry also contains the B-complex vitamins, thiamine and riboflavin, that help to promote growth and stimulate lagging appetites.

To maintain its high quality, poultry, both uncooked and cooked, must be stored properly. Market dressed birds, which are not frozen, may be kept up to one and a half days wrapped loosely in waxed paper and stored in the coldest section of the refrigerator.

Hard frozen market dressed poultry may be kept up to three days, loosely wrapped in wax paper and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. At the end of this period, the bird will be completely defrosted and should be cooked at once. Once thawed, do not refreeze poultry. Packaged hard frozen poultry may be kept several months in the freezer.

Cooked poultry should be put into the refrigerator promptly after the meal. Cover well to prevent drying out and absorbing odors from other foods. Never allow cooked poultry to stand in a warm room. It is best to use cooked poultry within three days. After that time it tends to dry out, it develops an "old" flavor, and takes on refrigerator odors.

FUTURE PROBLEMS ARE GIVEN CONSIDERATIONCounty Commissioners Are Guests of State Officials At A Dinner*TURNPIKE QUESTION

Bucks County Commissioners Joseph W. Hollowell and Simon K. Moyer were the guests last Thursday evening of Theodore Roosevelt, III, chairman of the State Planning Commission and State Secretary of Commerce, at a dinner conference at King of Prussia Inn, where he discussed with the Commissioners of Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware counties the effect the extension of the Penna. Turnpike will have upon their immediate communities.

Commissioners Moyer and Hollowell were particularly interested from the Bucks county angle. Mr. Roosevelt discussed the great impact the extension of the Penna. Turnpike will have upon Philadelphia and its suburban areas. This, it was said, will bring about a great growth in the population in these counties. It already has created problems relative to transportation, water supply, sewage treatment and disposal. School facilities, it was said, will constitute another problem.

In this connection it was indicated that the 1950 census will show Bucks County to have a population of 125,000.

The re-routing of Route 202, said Mr. Roosevelt and the construction of the proposed steel plant in the lower part of the county will create additional problems of transportation and housing.

The State Planning Board, he continued, recognizes the fact that the impact upon the Philadelphia suburban area will cause it to undergo a new development and there will be changes in traffic. The pattern of the area will create new and serious problems in many parts of the region.

Similarly, it recognizes the fact that the construction of the proposed steel plant in Falls township will create problems of housing and transportation. Since the great growth of population in counties in the Philadelphia area has created problems in connection with school facilities, transportation, water supply and sewer collection and its treatment, it seems imperative that a study of them be given by local governmental agencies concerned before complications, which are immediately ahead, take place.

Announcement has been made the commissioners of the four counties and a number of other persons interested in the problems will meet to make a study of planning on a county-wide basis in the near future.

The Third Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

What Has Gone Before

Today's ad is the third in a series telling about times the anti-trust lawyers made serious and damaging charges against A&P that the courts decided were not true.

In the first ad in this series we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, and other good American citizens, conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington.

These charges were false.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But that was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

In our second ad we told you about the time in Wilson, North Carolina, they charged A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, with conspiring to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Here again, as in the Washington bread case, the charges were false.

This was the time Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So here were two cases in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P, in which the judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

Today, we want to tell you about the third time—this time in Dallas, Texas—the court decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

Is it a crime to give people more good food for their money?

For 90 years A&P has devoted all its energies to this end.

For many months now the anti-trust lawyers from Washington have been giving stories to the newspapers, making speeches and talking over the radio about this company.

They have been making serious and damaging allegations about the methods that enable A&P to give its customers better food values.

We have already told you about other times the anti-trust lawyers made charges against us that were proved utterly false in court.

In the left-hand column on this page you can read what the federal judges had to say about those two cases.

Now we are going to tell you about the third time a federal judge decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

The Dallas Anti-Trust Suit

In 1942 the anti-trust lawyers went out to Dallas, Texas, 1,400 miles from the homes of most of the defendants, and instigated criminal charges against A&P.

About this case one thing was sure.

Their previous experience did not deter the anti-trust lawyers from making more inflammatory and damaging allegations, just as they had done before.

They made practically the same allegations they are making today.

Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried. He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

Judge Atwell also said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If the indictment is not good then it is better to find out before an expensive trial than it is after an expensive trial. I do not think it is good, and thinking that, it is my duty to sustain the demurrers and motion to quash."

In short, Federal Judge Atwell threw the anti-trust lawyers and their case right out of his court.

So that makes three times that the anti-trust lawyers made damaging allegations against A&P. In two of these cases federal judges said they were all wrong. In the third case a federal judge said the indictment was inflammatory and he would not even permit the case to be tried.

The anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with the Dallas decision.

Neither were they satisfied with the two other decisions in which federal courts administered stinging rebukes to them.

They were still determined to destroy A&P.

In our next ad we will tell you how they continued their campaign in this case in the Circuit Court of Appeals and subsequent proceedings.

We will show you how, once again, they disagreed with the courts.

Everything that has happened since this suit was filed proves that the American people don't want A&P destroyed. A deluge of letters from people in all walks of life and thousands of editorials in newspapers and magazines convince us that the public has faith in A&P.

The housewives of this nation, whose patronage has made this company big, are buying from us in increasing numbers and increasing volume.

Our suppliers, whom the anti-trust lawyers allege we have exploited, are rushing to our support.

Labor leaders, mindful of the fact that A&P employees enjoy the best wages, hours and working conditions, are taking a stand against the suit.

Even many of our good competitors, who the anti-trust lawyers allege are hurt by our competition, have taken ads to tell the public that they don't like this attack on A&P.

All this indicates that the American people realize that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency, against low prices and against real competition.

Apparently most Americans do not want to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on any businessman who does a better and more efficient job and grows big in the process.

No one can make them believe it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Junior's Next Jump

Washington, Feb. 9. THE efforts to build young Franklin Roosevelt up to a size where he must be nominated by the Democrats for Governor of New York next November is not going so well. For this there are several reasons.

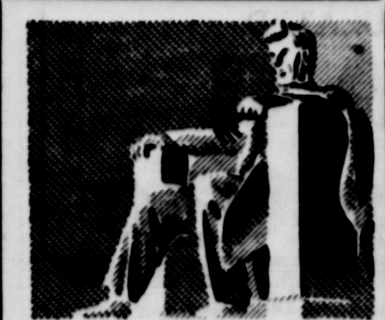

THE chief of these seems to be the source and character of his publicity. Most of this comes from interested persons so close to him personally as to make the fulsome-ness of their praise slightly sickening. A second trouble is their technique. Their notion of an argument is to assert that the mere suggestion of either James or Franklin Roosevelt achieving success in politics is enough to cause all the "rich old reactionaries" in the country to tear their hair in a rage or swoon with fright. This is considered not only effective politically but screamingly funny. It is, of course, pretty silly stuff but it does give an idea of the caliber of the new gubernatorial aspirant and his journalistic mas-seurs.

IT IS interesting to note that in none of the printed grease in which young Franklin is now being drenched is there any reference to his qualifications for the governorship. Great emphasis is placed on his "personal charm," his extraordinary victory in the district last year and the vote-getting asset of his name. Not a word is said about either his character or his ability. No mention is made of his public record. Of course, as yet, he has no public record. Nor has he ever been in position where his ability could be judged. As to his "views," his speeches have merely mouthed the words of the Welfare State administrationists and he has carefully echoed the Americans for Democratic Action propaganda. If since he came to Congress—or before—he has done any thinking for himself about issues or measures or men there has been no sign of it.

NOTWITHSTANDING the "spoiled child" characteristics which protrude, when he first came to Congress the disposition of his colleagues was rather to like him personally. He has done a good deal to change this recently. Among the incidents which do not reflect credit on him may be mentioned his slightly degrading controversy with Clayton Powell, Negro congressman from New York, who accused him of discourt-teously usurping Powell's prerogative to present the petition to bring the FEPC bill out of committee in order to "glorify" himself and promote his gubernatorial ambitions. Another was his attack upon Congressman Clarence Brown, of Ohio, who, in replying, gave the rather startling figures of the number of important roll calls Junior had missed since he took his seat and suggested that he could not learn House procedure in "New York night clubs" nor by "nocturnal meditations on Fifty-second street." A third was his inexcusable use of the word "chicanery" in referring to the greatly beloved and respected Congressman James W. Wadsworth. He also indicated his belief that Senator Taft and ex-President Hoover were somewhat "hypocritical." And, finally, there was the typically bumptious reply to the question of why he refused to debate with Wendell Willkie's son, Philip, over the radio. "Why," he asked, "should I make that fellow a big shot?"

ALL this has combined to create the impression of an unpleasantly immature and self-assertive play-boy, chiefly interested in promoting himself politically as fast as possible, but not to be regarded as raising either the mental or moral level of the House. Of course, he may correct this idea in the present session and make a record that will commend him generally.

GREATER FREEDOM

The Great Emancipator stood in the forefront of the struggle for human freedom. In equal sense, other great emancipators are hard at work in scientific laboratories—leading the fight to provide greater freedom from disease for all mankind. Great victories have already been won—more will come. For our part, we keep our knowledge abreast of the latest developments, and make proven new drugs immediately available to your doctor.

BRISTOL'S UNITED DRUG STORE

But no one will claim that he has yet made a start in that direction. His publicity promoters have practically drawn a blueprint of how, with the aid of his friend, Ed Flynn, of Belgian-paying-block fame, he can get the gubernatorial prize through the old labor union-Negro combination. It is to be worked for him by his political aides and agents. He is to stay in Washington (mostly) and "stick to his knitting," pretending not to be interested in anything except his seat in the House, while his friends "sew the nomination up for him."

PERHAPS, it will work out the way they have it planned. However, there are a good many hurdles to take and quite a few persons to push out of the way. Also, there is the question of being elected after being nominated. Junior's boosters insist his name alone will carry him. "Junior," they say, "is just the boy to do the trick." But that is not necessarily so. For ten years now, the Democrats have not had a real majority in New York State. In that time they have carried the State for President and for senator by the grace of the so-called Liberal party bossed by David Dubinsky, the labor leader, and the American Labor party, admittedly dominated by the Communists.

COMBINED, the two parties poll upward of 700,000 votes. Without their support, President Roosevelt would not have carried the State in either 1940 or 1944. With their support, President Truman failed to carry it in 1948 and Senator Lehman would have been overwhelmingly beaten last year but for them. The indisputable truth is that for its success in the greatest State in the Union the Democratic party is completely dependent upon these two splinter parties. It isn't a satisfactory situation. If the people of New York ever really grasp the character of the men who control their

State and what a shabby, subservient instrument the Democratic party has become there, it will take a good deal more than Junior has to do the trick.

PRE-SEASON DEER SEASON IS ASKED BY COUNTY CLUBS

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 9 — The Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs formally adopted a resolution favoring a pre-season deer season for bow and arrow hunters when delegates from 15 member clubs met here Monday evening. The action was taken following a hotly contested debate on the merits of the resolution. Just about a year ago an opposite view was held following a poll of club delegates. The resolution adopted Monday evening was sponsored by the New Hope Club.

Charles Wetherill, well-known Doylestown sportsman, was re-elected to the presidency of the Federation for 1950. He was unopposed. Allan Woolf, Morrisville, was elected vice-president, while John Fetterolf, Buckingham, was re-elected treasurer. Franklin Howes, Point Pleasant, was named secretary, succeeding Shelly Myers. Announcement was made by President Wetherill that the new, verminproof feedhouse constructed at the Graterford Prison (scene of the Montgomery County and Bucks County Federation pheasant raising projects) has been completed. Cost of the building, which will be shared jointly by the two Federation units, was approximately $1800.00.

Secretary Myers reported the Bucks County unit represented 5,027 members of organized sportsmen's groups in the County during 1949.

A resolution recommending changes in certain sections of the State Fish Code was adopted. It would provide heavier fines for failure to display the fishing license button, failure to sign the fishing license, and would impose a heavy fine on persons convicted of borrowing another's fishing license.

President Wetherill named the following committee chairmen to serve during 1950: Vermin, William H. Diehl; Forestry, Fred Ackerman; Game, Clarence Happe; Fish, J. Elbertson; organization, William Haigh; Publicity, S. Popkin and F. Howes; Entertainment, J. Fetterolf; State Federation delegate, Allan Woolf; Alternate State Federation delegate, L. Stackhouse.

The following advisory board was also appointed: Fritz Witte, C. A. Ridge, Bretz Rutherford, Charles Cawley and Harry Bossler.

Delegates were on hand for the meeting from the following clubs: Bristol; Bucks County; Conestoga; Delaware Valley; Edgely; Erwinna; Mount Pleasant; Morrisville; New Hope; Newportville Rod & Gun; Newportville Fish & Game; Paltown; Springtown; Tru-Sport and Cutalossa.
